PREAMBLE

Summary of Decisions in this Determination

• No increase in remuneration or allowances provided to Members of Parliament

Statutory context

(1) The Salaries and Allowances Act 1975 (the Act) requires the Tribunal to inquire into and determine the remuneration to be paid or provided to Ministers of the Crown, the Parliamentary Secretary to the Cabinet, Parliamentary Secretaries appointed under section 44A(1) of the Constitution Acts Amendment Act 1899, members of committees, and officers and Members of the Parliament.

(2) Section 8(a) of the Act provides that a determination relating to offices identified in sections 6(1)(a), 6(1)(ab) and 6(1)(b) must be issued within 12 months of the previous determination. The Tribunal’s most recent determination in relation to the remuneration of Members of Parliament was issued on 1 December 2016.

(3) By issuing this Determination, the Tribunal discharges its obligation under section 8(a).

(4) When issuing determinations under sections 6(1)(a) and (ab), section 10A of the Act requires the Tribunal to consider specific information. Accordingly, in issuing this Determination, the Tribunal has considered the:
   (a) Public Sector Wages Policy Statement 2017, which seeks to limit to $1,000 per annum the increases in industrial agreement wages and associated conditions for full time equivalent public sector employees; and
   (b) financial position and fiscal strategy of the State, as stated in the 2017-18 State Government Budget Papers, presented on 7 September 2017.

(5) The Tribunal consulted with its statutory adviser, Hon George Cash AM, who is appointed under Section 10(4)(a) of the Act to assist the Tribunal.

Economic context

(6) The Western Australian economy faces considerable challenges, although the Tribunal notes that there may be signs of recovery. The State Budget forecast total public sector net debt to increase from $32.5 billion at 30 June 2017 to $43.6 billion by 30 June 2021. The financial results for 2016-17 reflected an expected general government operating deficit of $3 billion. An operating deficit of $3.1 billion for the total public sector is anticipated in 2017-18.

(7) Revenue estimates over 2016-17 to 2019-20 were revised downwards by $5 billion from the figures in the Pre-election Financial Projections Statement, released by the Under Treasurer in February 2017. The main contributors included decreases in:
   (a) royalty income;
   (b) GST grants;
   (c) taxation revenue; and
   (d) other non-GST grants from the Commonwealth.
The State Budget forecast that economic growth will increase to 3% in 2017-18, compared to an estimated 0.25% in 2016-17. The rate of decline in business investment is expected to slow, from an estimated decrease of $14.8 billion in 2016-17 to a forecast $4.5 billion fall in 2017-18. The rate of contraction of the domestic economy is also expected to ease in 2017-18.

The Department of Treasury’s September 2017 figures indicated that the Consumer Price Index rose by 0.7% in annual average terms. The State Budget has forecast an increase to 1% for the year 2017-18.

The State Budget also noted signs of recovery in the labour market, with employment forecast to grow in 2017-18. However, wage growth is expected to be contained due to spare capacity in the labour market. The Wage Price Index is anticipated to increase by 1.5% for the year 2017-18.

Recent quarterly figures state that Western Australia’s Wage Price Index rose by 1.3% in annual average terms to September 2017. The Public Sector Wage Price Index increased by 1.9% in annual average terms to September 2017, while the Private Sector Wage Price Index increased by 1.2% in that period.

Information on the state’s Labour Force, issued in October 2017, indicated that unemployment averaged 6.0% over the year to October 2017, as it had done in the previous year.

The Tribunal notes that the State Government has commenced measures to address the circumstances of the state’s budget, particularly the Public Sector Wages Policy that seeks to limit to $1,000 per annum the increases in industrial agreement wages for public sector employees.

Conclusion

In recent years, the Tribunal has restrained the increases in remuneration provided to Members of Parliament due to the difficult economic conditions that have emerged.

In conducting this inquiry the Tribunal has considered existing remuneration of Members of Parliament within the context of wage and salary rates applying generally in the community.

At the time of this Determination, there is proposed legislation that will operate to cap remuneration provided to certain offices within the Tribunal’s jurisdiction, including Members of Parliament. However, as the legislation has not yet been enacted, this Determination is issued under the Tribunal’s existing statutory duty.

Notwithstanding the full discretion available to it, the Tribunal considers that the current economic challenges, and the measures to address them, have significant implications throughout the public sector and the community generally.

The Determination provides no increase to remuneration and allowances provided to Members of Parliament. The Tribunal will continue to monitor Members’ allowances to assess whether the costs of effectively servicing an electorate are reasonably met.
The Determination will now issue.

Signed on 30 November 2017.
